Berlin, March 28.-Europe has found amusement in the financial embarrassment of Prince William of Wied, who was forced to arrange all the preliminaries of his ascent to the throne of Albania on credit.

Not until the last moment before his departure from Berlin did the young monarch-elect succeed in getting any of the $1,000,000 loan which had been arranged by the Powers. The result was that he was unable to meet the bill of $750 for moving his personal effects and furniture to the palace at Durazzo. What with the crusade for women's suffrage and Home Rule, England is having a "beastly" time of it all.

While the disturbances in the Emerald Isle have assumed really grave proportions and while the disturbances have spread into and involved the army, it is not at all likely, as some sensationalists seek to make it appear, that the throne of King George is in danger.

The English people have themselves too well in hand, their government is too good and has been too long in the building to be in any serious danger of dissolution on account of a political condition, no matter how tense the situation may grow, which really involves a very tiny part of the vast empire.

American Citizens Fail to Exercise Ballot Properly

They Let Political Boss Wield It

Study Carefully Questions of Day

By JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy

NE OF THE WEAKEST POINTS IN THE COMPLETE SUCCESS OF OUR REPUBLIC IS THE FAILURE OF THE BUSINESS MEN TO PROPERLY REALIZE THEIR BIRTHRIGHT OF FREEDOM IN THE POSSESSION OF THE BALLOT. WHEN THEY FIND HARMFUL MEAS-URES THRUST UPON THEM, HOWEVER, THEY ARE THE FIRST TO COMPLAIN AND TO LAMENT WITH A LOUD VOICE THAT POLITICS IS ROTTEN. OUR PEOPLE, BECAUSE THEY HAVE SO LONG ENJOYED UNINTERRUPTEDLY THE PRIVILEGES OF A FREE REPUBLIC, HAVE FORGOTTEN WHAT IT COST TO SECURE THESE.

They need to consider more deeply the fact that the very structure of our republican form of government has been erected by popular will and that its power and its greatness-indeed, its very existence-is dependent upon the duty of American citizenship to EXERCISE THE BALLOT PROPERLY. . The fact that this tremendous instrument of power is often used amiss is because the sterling men of integrity simply let go of it and allow the POLITICAL BOSS TO PICK IT UP AND WIELD IT AT HIS WILL.

To prevent this the American business man, the patriotic American citizen in every walk of life, must willingly lend his support to the making of the use of the ballot. He ought to be willing to GIVE HIS FORTUNE, HIS LIBERTY AND EVEN HIS LIFE to prevent the downfall of the magnificent structure of government which his forefathers built. He must be willing to yield his share to the support of this government in proportion to what he has acquired as the result of living in a land where he has been free to make the most of his business ability. How can he do these things? By resolving to study carefully the political questions applicable to his day and make up his mind what legislation is needed either for reform or to put into effect new plans for the betterment of his people. SO MUCH THE BETTER IF HE CAN GATHER ABOUT HIM THE THOUGHTFUL MEN OF HIS COMMUNITY TO DISCUSS AND DEBATE WITH THEM THE NEEDS OF HIS SECTION OF THE STATE. Speaker Clark and Followers Lose Spectacular Fight.

DEBATE LIMIT RULE ADOPTED

Administration Forces Crush the Opposition by a Vote of 207 to 176. Reduced Size of Vote Held by Some to Indicate Terrific Contest In the Senate - Summary of a Spirited

Washington, March 28 .- The passage by the house of the administration bill repealing the free tolls clause of the Panama canal act is assured. This became evident when Champ Clark's spectacular fight against the cloture rule demanded by administration leaders was crushed by a vote of 207 to 176. Deserted even by his colleagues on the Democratic delegation from his own state, Speaker Clark went down to defeat.

The reduced size of the vote in the house for the administration indicates, however, that the contest on the tolls issue in the senate will be very close and that the administration may lose.

There was a hum of excitement as the speaker's gavel descended and a demand for order was made. Everybody was intent on catching the first words from the administration leaders, because it seemed certain that they would take Speaker Clark to and task for his desertion of the Wilson administration and his spectacular stand against the cloture rule.

Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on interstate commerce, seized the opportunity to deliver a speech in favor of the free tolls proposition.

"A terrible hurrah is being made about what the president has asked congress to do," said Representative Adamson. "Is that anything new? Has Tammany Hall's representatives in congress forgotten that when that other Democratic president was in the White House he not only told congress that the silver purchase law ought to be repealed, but that it should be repealed, and that until repealed nothing else should be done either in the way of legislation or in the way of distribution of patronage Do they forget the similar conduct of all the other presidents up to the days of the great founder of the Bull Moose prty?"

Criticises the Speaker.

Up to this point everything had gone smoothly, but it remained for Representative Hardwick of Georgia, a Democrat, who concluded the administration's side of the debate on the rule, to make a personal attack upon the speaker. "I would remind the distinguished speaker," said Mr. Hardwick, "that it is the duty of all Democrats to stand by the administration, or we will be again turned into the wilderness like the tribes of Israel for another 40 years.'

Republicans and Progressives joined in a chorus of jeers.

More than 35 names had been called when the first reading of the roll was completed. The review or second call added less than 30 names, and served only to delay but not to alter the result. At the conclusion of the second call, when it was evident that the previous question had been demanded and that the actual vote on the rule would prove only a perfunctory performance, Speaker Clark said to the reading clerk in a strong voice, "Mr. Clerk, please call my

"Mr. Clark of Missouri," said the clerk.

"No," announced the speaker. Then the tabulation was performed in quick order, and Speaker Clark announced his own defeat in this way "On this question the ayes are 207, the nays 176, and the previous ques-

The vote on the rule itself immediately followed. On this vote the ayes were 200 and the nays 172.

Sims Opens Fight.

Representative Sims, author of the repeal bill, then opened the fight in the bill's behalf. "It is mortifying "What has become of the emotional and humiliating to know that mem bers of the president's own party are guilty of imputing cowardly or treasonable conduct to their own chief executive," said Mr. Sims. "If our president is as bad a man as these charges would make him, no self-respective member of this house so believing can ever cross the threshold of the White House to pay his respects to the present occupant."

Mr. Sims came in for considerable hackling at the hands of the opposition in the course of his speech as he had prepared it when he came to the point where he wished to demand whether the members of the house intended to march under the flag of international honesty or international treachery.

"Under which flag will you march?"

demanded Mr. Sims. "The stars and stripes," came in Read the Classified Columns, riotous chorus from the Republican side of the house. Mr. Sims flared and reiterated his appeal. "Under what flag?" demanded Mr. Sims. "Old Glory," bellowed a hundred voices.

Villa Fights His Way Through a Portion of Torreon.

CAPTURES SUBURBAN TOWNS

Hundreds Fall in the Terrific Assault On the Federal Stronghold of Torreon-Villa Boasts He Will Capture or Kill Every Federal In the Town. of Action.

El Paso, Tex., March 28. Official rebel advices from Gomez Palacio say that three federal generals, all of them prominent commanders in Gen eral Velasco's army at Torreon, have been killed in the fighting there. They are General Pena, Reyna and Anaya. General Ocaranza, another prominent commander of the federals, is report ed to have been desperately wounded.

The dispatch conveying this intelligence said the federals were in the western part of Torreon, making what was regarded as a last stand. General Herrera, with his own rebel command and a part of General Benavides' force, had entered Torreo' from the east and had captured the buil ring after fighting his way through a portion of the city and driving the federals into the western part of the city.

Out of the wealth of conflicting reports of rebel defeats and rebel victories, from federal and rebel sources, the first authentic news for several days came when newspaper correspondents at the front reported the complete investment of Gomez Palacio by the rebel army and the driving of all federals across the river into Torreon.

This bore out messages received from Villa in Juarez Thursday night ordering materials sent to Gomez Palacio for the repair of railroad and telegraph "nes and the declaring of working direct with Gomez Palacio.

The press messages declare that General Ve'asco, the federal commander, had been maintaining general make his strongest stand there in stead of Torreon. Villa was quoted Torreon without much trouble. Torreon was reported on fire in places. due to the explosion of rebel shells.

The messages further state that after the rebels had taken Lerdo and abandoned the place in the attack upon Gomez Palaclo and Torreon, the federals returned and retook Lerdo, but that Villa drove them out and was again in complete control of all suburbs about the city of Torreon.

The holding of Lerdo by the rebels enabled Villa to send in a command parties are trying to find Frank general attack in addition to enabling

A Philatelic Curiosity.

In the state of Sonora, Mexico, the operation of the mines is now going on as if nothing had ever happened. Sonora has seceded, and no federals are in sight. The state government runs things on its own hook, but neither has nor has claimed any national rights. This produces embarrassment, says the Engineering and Mining Journal. Sonora has no coinage, and currency is scarce. The supply of federal postage stamps has run out, and those of the sovereign state of Sonora do not carry in the United States. Consequently Americans put United States stamps on their letters and pay 3 cents into the state postoffice. The latter undertakes to carry them to the American border and mail them there. Thus we see foreign postmarks on American stamps, a philatelic curiosity.

New--Streamline--Bullnose--32 h. p.---A Conquering Four

Three years ago, when the Detroiter was announced, almost anything on four wheels could be sold-and some of them were mighty lame ducks. Four men, all in responsible positions in the automobile business, realized the situation. They saw cars with weak axles, noisy motors, undersized pinions and oversized prices, finding ready sales. These men said, "There will be a revolution when people get car-wise. In the meantime, we will build a car that will correct these evils, and that sells on an honestly narrow margin of profit. We will build that car and wait."

They did, and called it the Detroiter. Rather quietly they established conservative dealer relations at over 600 points. They worked out a system of production economy that made this car the lowest in over-head cost in America, barring

In the boom days of the automobile business their method looked old-fashioned to many. But note these facts: (1) As a result of this policy, the Detroiter Company sells automobiles at a smaller expense than practically any other coma moving picture theater, which he pany. (2) It keeps no traveling mechanics and owned, as the place of his death, J. no traveling sales managers on the road, drum-A. Pendery of Lockland, a suburb, ming up dealers. (4) Its repair business is by an employe of the theater who smaller in proportion to sales than that of any had gone into the playhouse to clean other firm, averaging $3.81 per car per year.

The makers have put into practice another theory-that people who buy automobiles are tired of windy claims and relish intelligent analysis. Accordingly the Detroiter advertising has consistently pointed out certain mechanical superiorities of the car. It has stated and proved that the Detroiter is the only popular priced automobile in America with a full floating rear axle. long stroke motor, platform rear spring and expensive, power-conserving ball bearings throughout. Nowadays, people are becoming familiar with these terms. They are finding out that the full floating axles of this type can withstand 3,000 pounds over-load and house a pinion that will never strip; that ball bearings last longer and multiply horse power; that the platform spring alone needs no shock absorbers; that all these features combine to produce a car of light weight that reduces upkeep to the minimum making possible 20 to 25 miles to a gallon of fuel, and 100 miles to the quart of lubricating oil.

Facts and not claims must win in the long run. These are the facts about the Detroiter-some of the reasons why it is a superlatively good car for you to own.

The Surprise at the Rehearsal

By NEWTON CHANCE.

Paul Ardmore nodded his thanks to the conductor as he swung wown the car steps to the snow covered platform and made his way toward the waiting room.

No expectant committee gathered about the stove, and the only signs of life were the clicking of the telegraph instruments and a thin film of very rank tobacco smoke that curled from under the closed window of the ticket

He waited a minute; then he rapped on the ground glass, and presently a face, appearing in the opening, evinced surly interest.

"I am Professor Ardmore," explained Paul. "I am to give a lecture at the Gothic church. There is no committee to meet me, and there seems to be no hack about the station.'

"There is one generally, but Jim got a job driving a feller over to Moorway. He'll be back to meet the 9:43. but if you don't want to wait it's easy to walk there. You go down the road a piece tiil you come to Pine street. Then you go over to Maple until you come to Spruce. It's just around the corner of Spruce. Are you the feller that was to lecture in the Star course last night and didn't come? The ladies got up a show, so they wouldn't have to give the money back."

Paul clutched at his pocket and extracted a letter. He glanced at the fine feminine handwriting and breathed a sigh of relief.

"It is for the 17th," he announced in relief. "I am so absentminded that I have to be very careful of my dates. Perhaps the committee has discovered the error and will gather the audience again tonight. In any event, it would be best for me to go over."

He turned up the collar of his uister to protect his throat and, leaving the station, plunged through the drifting

The welcoming smile faded from the girlish faces. "You are the lecturer?" cried one. "We thought you were the bridegroom.'

"Mercy, no!" exclaimed Paul, coloring vividly.

"The lecture was announced for last night," went on the speaker. "The guild members organized an impromptu concert to avoid disappointing the audience. You might at least have telegraphed when you found that you could not come.'

"But I have come." declared Paul as he produced his letter. "Your communication says very distinctly that the lecture is on the 17th.'

The girl took the letter unbelieving ly, then gave a little cry of dismay. You are Professor Ardmore?" she eried. "It was Burton Brooks, the Egyptologist, who was to have lec tured last night. Your lecture is to be given on the 27th. I made the mistake in the date. This is my letter. I am

"I can come again on the 27th, promised Paul as he perceived the girl's distress. "I take it that there is a wedding here this evening. May I stay until it is time for my train? It is scarcely inviting at the station, and the agent smokes very bad tobacco."

"Yes; we've reported his bad manners to the company dozens of times," was the discouraged reply. "You are welcome here, but it is a rehearsal for the bridal party, not the wedding."

She led the way into the body of the church, and Paul slipped into a pew on the side aisle, glad of a restful haven until train time.

Presently the organ pealed, and at the first strains there entered the groom and his best man. An elderly woman, who seemed to have constituted herself the mistress of ceremonies. shouted to the organist to stop and charged upon the sheepish groom.

"Go back!" she cried. "You don't give the organist a chance! He's got to play the march all the way through. and if you come out now you'll have to stand like a toy figure waiting for the bride to come in! Don't come until I say 'Now,' and then remember the

The little bride was none other than Elernor Kingsland, the one woman in the world that Paul worshiped, and his worship was not the less intense because he had never told of his love.

He had thought of her always as a child, for he was very young himself for the position that he held, and in consequence felt himself to be tremendously old.

He had meant some day to tell he know a woman's trials. know her need of sympathy and help.

If you, my sister, are unhappy because of ill-health, if you feel unfit for household duties, social pleasures, or daily employment, write and tell me just how you suffer, and ask for my free ten days' trial of a home treatment suited to your needs. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any man. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home at a cost of about 12 cents a week.

If you suffer from women's peculiar ailments causing pain in the head, back, or bowels, feeling of weight and dragging-down sensation, falling or displacement of pelvic organs, causing kidney and bladder weakness or constipation and piles, painful or irregular periods, catarrhal conditions and discharges, extreme nervousness, depressed spirits, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, sallow complexion with dark circles under the eyes, pain in the left breast, or a general feeling that life is not worth living,

I INVITE YOU TO SEND TODAY FOR MY FREE TEN DAYS' TREATMENT

and learn how these ailments can be easily and surely conquered at home without the dangers and expense of an operation. When you are cured, and able to enjoy life again, you can pass the good word along to some other sufferer. My home treatment is for young or old. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain how to overcome green sickness (chlorosis), irregularities, headaches, and lassitude in young women and restore them to plumpness and health. Tell me if you are worried about your daughter. Remember, it costs you nothing to give my home treatment a ten days' trial, and does not interfere with daily work. If health is worth asking for, then accept my generous offer and write for the free treatment, including my illustrated booklet, "Woman's Own Medica! Adviser." I will send all in plain wrappers postpaid. To save time, you can cut out this offer, mark your feelings, and return to me. Send today, as you may not see this offer again. Address,

MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box H, SOUTH BEND, IND.
